AFGHANISTAN.

There is likely to be a war between England and this remote inland country of Asia, which may also in the end bring about unpleasant relations between England and Russia. Afghanistan lies between the territory of Russia on the north, Persia on the west, the Indian Empire on the east, and the territory of Belochistan on the south and Belochistan borders on the Indian ocean. The territory is about 225,000 square miles, or more than five times as large as that of North Carolina, and it contains a population of 6,000,000. It is a rough country and a great deal of it lies 15,000 feet above the level of the sea. The great river Indus and the Hindoo Koosh mountains are its border on the east. The population of the country is mostly Mohammedan, and the government is divided into tribes or chiefdoms, but it was formerly a hereditary monarchy, and even now the Ameer exercises a very distinct control over these districts or chiefdoms. The regular force of the Ameer is only about 16,000 men, mostly cavalry, and the reserve force is about 160,000—when all are called out.

The English troops—that is, the troops of the Indian Army, mostly made up of the natives of that country, are advancing over the eastern boundary of Afghanistan in three columns, numbering in all about 34,000 men, and aiming towards the Russian and the Persian frontiers.

The statement of the causes of this war would be altogether too voluminous for our space. But it may be said that the dispute arises from the jealousy between the English who are on one side of this territory, and the Russians who are on another, each anxious to get the other to a disposition to appropriate to itself the territory of Afghanistan.

Prague.

Prague is an old city and the ancient capital of Bohemia, with some 200,000 inhabitants. It occupies both sides of the Moldau river which is covered by several long bridges, the oldest one being the "Charles Bridge," more than 1600 feet long, and built of stone between three and five centuries ago. It has defensive towers at each end, and numerous statues on its sides, of saints, among which is a bronze one of St. John, Nepomuk, the patron saint of Bohemia, who was thrown from the bridge into the river in 1383, for refusing to betray the confessional secret of the wife of Emperor Wenzel.

The bridge and the town are full of bloody, historic events and reminiscences of religious wars. It was once a stronghold of Protestantism, in the days of Huss and Jerome, but a battle on the "White Hill," a short distance from the city, between the Protestant and Catholic forces, in November, 1620, in which the former were defeated, ended the rule of Protestantism, and it has ever since been a strong Catholic city.

The University of Prague was founded in 1348, by Charles IV., and on its 500th anniversary, a handsome bronze statue of its founder was erected near the bridge tower of Charles Bridge, on the oldest side of the town, and near the University.

The city abounds in palaces, and Bohemian Counts are as thick as blackberries. They spend their winters in the city, and summers at fashionable places of resort, on country seats. They are a nuisance to the country, as a class, and help to keep it poor.

Some of them are coming to grief, and it will be a happy day for Bohemia, and the rest of continental Europe, when the race of them is as dead as Julius Cæsar.

The city has some beautiful modern streets, and large hospitals for all classes of unfortunate people, and is a very interesting place to visit.

Colonel Dwight, of Binghamton, N. Y. after obtaining an insurance upon his life of $250,000 for the benefit of his wife and son, seems to have determined to kill himself before his next quarterly premium became due, and it is said that he exposed himself in the most reckless manner, in the hope of contracting a fatal disease. He even swam the Susquehanna river back and forth on cold days; and it is believed finally despaired of dying soon enough, and so probably poisoned himself.

THE DOMINION.

The Marquis of Lorne and his wife, the Princess Louise, daughter of Queen Victoria, arrived at Halifax last week on the British steamer Sarmatia. She is the new Governor General of the Dominion.

They were received at Halifax with great pomp and ceremony, and evident enthusiasm, and with banqueting and festivities. After staying at Halifax for three days they took a special train for Montreal where a magnificent reception awaited them. From Montreal they go to Ottawa, the capital of the Dominion, the residence of the Governor General.

All the preparations for the reception of the Viceroy party were on the most magnificent scale. This is the first daughter of a King or Queen who has ever trod the shores of North America. The etiquette of this Provincial court will undoubtedly undergo a good deal of modification in consequence of the presence of a member of the Royal family, and the Canadians become somewhat more Anglicized in their thoughts and manners.

Those two eminent Christian Democratic Statesmen of Georgia, Gov. Colquitt and Ben. Hill, do get on happily together. Hill accuses Colquitt of having received a bribe of $30,000, for signing some railroad bonds. Colquitt denies it, but Hill offers to prove it. A commission of the Legislature is examining Colquitt's charges and they propose to have another commission to investigate charges of corruption against Hill. If Hill and Colquitt should both be impeached, and be obliged to step down and out it would slightly mar the unsullied purity of the Georgia Democracy.

Two noted men, citizens of Raleigh, died last week, one at Raleigh and one at Washington. D. C. One was the Hon. B. F. Moore, and the other was the Hon. B. E. Moore, for more than forty years, has ranked among the first lawyers of the state. Mr. Gale was a lineal descendant of the late Joseph Gale of Washington, and also of the Hon. W. W. Seaton of Washington. His grandfather was a short hand reporter for the earlier Congresses, and the founder of the old Raleigh Register and the National Intelligencer. Mr. Seaton Gale was a gentleman of rare culture in letters, and of very polished manners.

An evening paper states that General Humphreys, of the Engineer Corps of the United States Army, will resign his seat as a member of the National Academy of Sciences, for the reason that he thinks the act of the academy in accepting Professor Mark's report favoring the consolidation of the several scientific branches of the government contains a reflection upon the Engineer Corps of the Army, of which he is the head.

It is said that the Greenbackers and Democrats of New Jersey, have elected a man to Congress, who has two living wives. He talks of resigning his seat and going to Europe, instead of facing a suit for bigamy.

THE WILMINGTON POST.

WILMINGTON, N. C.
 SUNDAY MORNING, DEC. 1, 1878.

Letter From Columbia.

Mr. Editor: A synoptical letter of the election held in Richland county, and all over the state of South Carolina, on the 30th, of Nov. inst.

Most of the precinct polls were opened before 6 o'clock. A. M., (a violation of the law of this state.) The Republicans rallied to the polls to participate in the rights of suffrage, stronger and more solid, than they have since the reconstruction. Nevertheless, they were defrauded, and cheated out of the honest vote election. How were we cheated? First, the Governor appointed three Commissioners of elections for each county in the State—one Republican in each county. In Richland county the two Democratic Commissioners ignored the Republican Commissioner, and allowed him no voice in the appointment of managers, for the precinct polls. The Republican Commissioner seeing that he could be of no service to the republicans of Richland county, resigned the appointment.

The Democrats never solicited votes from the republican voters like they generally do. They had that all fixed, they intended to win the election, by a fixed plan, which was preconcerted. After the polls were declared closed, for the purpose of counting the votes, the democratic bystanders immediately surrounded and obstructed the windows, so that no one could witness the count from the outside, but themselves. The (managers) refused to admit the United States Deputy Marshals on the inside to witness the count of Congressional votes, and they could not witness it from the outside on account of the obstruction of the windows, so the Republicans, had no one to witness the count save the United States Supervisor, and it was impossible for him to watch all. When the boxes were opened, and the votes regularly counted, they found at some polls, as high as 600 more votes in the box than names affixed on the poll list. They also found large Democratic tickets folded with 20 and 25 small tickets, within, containing the Democratic candidates.

The Democratic tickets, both large and small were made out of fine thin tissue paper. When they came to these folded tickets, containing the small ones, they would not throw them out according to law, but would sort and scatter them all over the box. After that they drew (by one manager blindfolded) the number of tickets from the box that were over and above the number of names on the poll list. The Republican tickets were made up on stiff paper the Democrats being made on tissue, the manager blindfolded, would feel and take out every time an honestly voted Republican ticket and destroy it, leaving these fraudulent Democratic tickets to be counted against us. I will venture to say that every Democrat that voted in Richland county, voted at least ten tickets in one, at the poll, at which I had the honor of witnessing a dishonorable election. There were 156 more tickets in the box than names on the poll list. The blindfolded, and yet not blindfolded manager, would feel and take every time a Republican ticket and destroy it. I stood and looked with tears in my eyes, for I could not say anything, until they destroyed nine democratic tickets, and 147 Republican tickets. The same fraud was perpetrated all over the state.

Mr. Editor: The Republican voters of South Carolina might as well stay at home, and not go to the polls to vote, as they are losing the time. It would be better if we had no franchise, than to see our rights taken from us. We have in Richland county nineteen hundred majority Republican voters, and they voted stronger in this election than they have ever voted before. The Democrats returned 2800 majority in this county, by means of throwing out the honestly voted republican tickets, and counting these fraudulent democratic tickets against.

Is there no protection against this fraud? If so, can the honest Republicans of South Carolina be protected? We trust that our franchise, suffrage will not mould away into dust, and the Republican papers in our sister states remain silent.

Very Respectfully,
 J. H. BINGHAM,
 COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 26th, 1878.

Fighting with a Wildcat.

A Rocky Mountain wildcat belonging to Mr. John Spencer, of Bayonne, N. J., was allowed to escape on Sunday through the carelessness of some persons who were looking at it in its cage. Mr. Hunter returned on Saturday from a hunting expedition in the west, bringing the wildcat, which he had wounded with him. He supposed he had not yet won it, and it was sooner released than he thought. It bounded away to the woods. The dog was with him, and he followed it, and it came running out of the woods howling with pain. The wildcat had scratched out one of its eyes, and otherwise seriously injured it. A valuable hound was then put on the trail, and it led the party to a large hollow stump near the shore of New York Bay. The hound kept at a respectful distance from the stump, in which the wildcat was evidently crouching. Mr. Spencer approached, and to assure the animal fired his gun into the stump. Instantly the wildcat sprang out with a terrific yell. It crouched, looking at the pursuers. The battle with the dog had seemingly wheeled its fury. Suddenly it sprang with all its strength at Mr. Spencer, its owner, who approached nearer than the others, thinking that the animal might recognize its master. Mr. Spencer luckily escaped its claws by dashing aside. It landed several feet behind Mr. Spencer. Before it could make another spring Mr. Thomas Churchill, the hotel proprietor, sent a bullet through its heart.

The wildcat is to be stuffed for Mr. Churchill, to whom the other party presented it as a trophy of his marksmanship.—New York Sun.

The invention of this Superior and Complete Sewing Machine (The Family Shuttle Machine), marks one of the most important eras in the history of machinery, and when we consider the great usefulness and extremely low price ($25), it is very difficult to conceive of any invention for domestic use of more utility and importance, smooth, and quiet movement, rapid execution, certainty of operation, and delightful ease, that at once commands at above all others. The working parts are all steel; the bobbins hold 100 yards of thread; the stitch is the finest of all stitches made, most regular, and can be regulated in a moment to sew stitches from an inch in length on coarse material down to the finest, so infinitesimal as to be hardly discernible with the naked eye, and with a rapidly rendering it impossible to count them as fast as made; it does so perfectly all kinds of heavy, coarse, plain, gao, or fancy needle-work with ease and far less labor than required on other machines. It needs no commendation, the rapidity, increasing demand, and volunteer encomiums from the press, and the thousands of families who use them, amply testify to their undoubted worth as a standard and reliable household necessity, extending its popularity each day. This popular machine can be examined at the office of this paper. AGENTS WANTED by this company. Address them for information. FAMILY SHUTTLE MACHINE CO., 755 BROADWAY, NEW YORK 10 1.

 THE CARPET AND BEST IN THE WORLD.

Too long in Use to Doubt its Superior Merits.

Has horizontal shuttle motion, with strong frame.

Self-adjusting shuttle, with new anti-friction motion (noisy feature).

Extra long, large sized shuttle, easily removed.

Extra large sized bobbins, holding 100 yards of thread, doing away with the frequent rethreading of bobbins.

The shuttle tension is directly upon the thread, and not upon the bobbins, as in other machines, and is invariable, whether the bobbin is full or nearly empty.

The very perfection of the stitch and tension. The upper and lower threads are drawn together and locked almost instantaneously in the center of the goods, forming the stitch precisely alike on both sides, and of thickness of work, from light gauze to leather.

Four motion under feed—the only reliable feed known: feeds each side of the needle.

New self-adjusting "take up." No trailing of thread, or dropping stitches.

Adapted to all the wants of family sewing without restriction.

THE WILMINGTON POST

WILMINGTON, N. C.
SUNDAY MORNING, DEC. 1, 1878.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes says, "To guard is nobler than to heal." Dr. Harter's Elixir of Wild Cherry guards those who inhabit border lands and marshy districts against all malarial attacks.

An Undeniable Truth.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault, and there is only one excuse for you—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual constiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a sample bottle for ten cents. Three doses will relieve you.

It is a principle in hygienics that a torpid liver is a cause of fatal derangements of the physical organism. The blood, the bone, the muscles, the nerves all sympathize with this more prominent organ. Failure to obey its functions in the one is rebellion in every remote tissue. As a consequence, disease follows the slightest apathy or refusal of the liver to perform its part. Abnormal condition here for any length of time is death. To induce normal state, no medicine is more positively adapted than Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator. This is not advertisement, but fact. We have used the Doctor's valuable medicine in our family for twenty years. We know him to be a physician of over thirty years' continuous practice, and that he has used the medicine in that practice. If the thousands of poor, miserable, sorrowful, dyspeptic victims we meet every day would use Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator, they would recover health. What more can be said?—The Working Church, New York.

Flat Money vs Flat Goods.
I went into his store and asked for a pair of boots.
"All right," said Pollock, "what kind of money do you propose to pay in—the glorious flat of the present or the despised green back of the past?"
"Sir!" I remark impressively, "I am too patriotic not to assist in getting our new money into circulation. I shall pay in fiat, of which I have plenty, and more to come."
"All right," said Pollock, producing a little strip of leather. "There is the boots."
"But they are not boots," I exclaimed. "What kind of a strip of leather is that?"
"Just as much as I kin with your money. You say that piece of paper you hev is money—I say that piece of leather is boots. My word is, I trust ez good ez yours."
And with a feigning laugh he told Joe higher to keep an eye on me, and turned around selling substantial boots to a nigger farmer who had nashnet-bank notes.

Sadly I went over to Bascom's and found there the entire Corners discussing the financial situation. There was Deck in Fogman in his old fatherly chair, there was Isacker a lay in on his back on a round-table that the citizens play keeps upon when it is aroused, and Capt. McPeller loaning against the bar, all signifying the scarcity of money and the deplorable condition of industry. It was a site I had never seen before, and it melted me. I determined to demonstrate that there was one patriot that would respect the laws of his native place and accept her currency.

"Gentlemen," I sez firmly 'step up, Bascom, sez' em up."
Bascom hed bin takin' our money for some days, and hed bin to Louisville for a sodonic grin that boded us no good. We each poured out the likker, however, and placed the glasses on our respective lips. Immediately every man spit the likker out upon the floor. I turned sick for I hed uncawbushly swallowed a little of it.

It wuz WATER! THE FIRST I HED TASTED FOR YEARS!
"Wat does this mean, sir?" I demanded fiercely.
"Don't you like the whiskey?" wuz the answer ez he glared fiercely at me.
"Like it? Like it? Why it's water."
"Bless your soul," replied Bascom, "why don't you say it's whiskey? The minit you say it's whiskey, it is whiskey. You say the paper you want to pay me in is a dollar, just becoz you say it is a dollar, and why in bloody thunder can't you make whiskey out of water by just sayin' it's whiskey. Gentlemen, this is Flat Whiskey, and it's the only kin I kin git with fiat money. When you git to payin' in the comfortable old green back, or the modest nickel, all right. I'll give you the reglar old bowl-scorcher. But the likker is goin' to assimilate to the money. I learned that word in Louisville. If you want to pay in fiat money you are goin' to git fiat likker. If you can imagine that a piece of paper with your stamp onto it is a dollar you must likewise imagine this food to be good likker, and vice versa. Parson this is all you will ever git with your kind of money."

And he leaned back again his bottles with a defiant air, and we sank back terrified.
Where is the end to be? I don't know. Oh! that Butler wood carry Masseychosis, and git into power, so that his genius could solve the problem. If Bascom repudiates the fiat money it is all over here.

PETROLEUM V. NASH, Financier.
Colonel Bob Ingersoll is discoursing upon his favorite theme, "Hell" to the good people of Cincinnati. The Evangelist gives a short and expressive account of the meeting thus: "You will get hell at Ed's to-night."

Police Captain WILLIAMS said, in a talk with a World reporter about the kind of resorts that Brother Talmage has been inspecting:
"I would suggest the localizing of all houses of bad character in one district, where they would be under police surveillance, and where they would not be a nuisance to the neighborhood. I would not license them for that would give them caste and recognition, but I would have a state law compelling them to remain within certain limits, and I would arrest and punish them summarily whenever found outside of the limits."
Perhaps Capt. WILLIAMS would like to have charge of such a precinct.
